85 At Airing Of Legislation For Schools

Session Of County Boards Held With 2 Representatives

Legislation pertaining to education, pending action by the General Assembly in Columbus, was given a thorough airing by 85 Columbiana County school officials who met jointly Thursday night at Wellsville Daw Junior High School.

The session was attended by representatives of 11 Boards of Education in the county, plus the County Board of Education.

It was designed to acquaint area legislators with local sentiment on educational bills pending before the Ohio Legislature. Judging by the applause when a question was raised on holding another joint meeting when the Legislature convenes again in two years, the session was a "big hit."

Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel of Columbiana County and Robert Longworth of Carroll County, state representatives, reviewed legislation pertaining to schools.

In brief remarks, Wetzel said he favors an increase in sales tax from 3 to 4 cents and a hike of one cent in cigarette taxes. The revenue would be earmarked for education. Such legislation has not been introduced, but there was a general feeling that it would be soon.

Schools have first priority on any "extra" money over and above the governor's budget, Wetzel informed the group. He added he will vote on school legislation as directed by County Boards of Education.

Rep. Longworth, superintendent of Carroll County schools and chairman of the state education committee, reviewed all pending legislation pertaining to schools.

He also discussed a list of questions submitted by County Supt. James L. McBride and presided for a question-and-answer session. The Wellsville clerical staff and

Alien Draws Pen Term In Area Kidnap

An alien who was placed on probation after pleading guilty in 1961 to kidnaping a Newell man was sentenced to six years in prison Thursday in U. S. District Court in Wheeling.

Gusta D. Pshogios, 27, formerly of Sardis, violated his parole by returning to this country.

He and a companion, Harry J. Sembrakis, 29, were placed on five years probation in 1961 in abducting James Graham of Newell. They were told then by Judge Charles F. Paul never to return to this country. They were ordered to leave for Greece by Aug. 28, 1961.

Sembrakis has apparently followed the court order, but Pshogios returned to the U. S. on or about March 10 and was arrested by federal agents about a week ago in Easton, Pa.

The pair had pleaded guilty to kidnaping Graham in the spring of 1961, taking the Newell man from East Liverpool to Beaver County where he was released unharmed.

The aliens were eventually arrested by Maryland State Police April 18 after allegedly holding up a service station in Washington, Pa., and forcing an attendant to give them fuel. An armed robbery charge filed by Pennsylvania authorities was eventually dismissed.

Pshogios still faces deportation after completing the sentence imposed by Judge Paul. An official of the Immigration and Naturalization Service indicated that a detainer will be filed at the federal prison to which he is sent.

In imposing the sentence, Judge Paul said that it appeared his action of giving parole in 1961 was "a mistake." "I cannot make that mistake a second time," he said.

Board Of Review Sets Tax Complaint Airing

LISEON — Auditor Kenneth Bell said the Board of Review will begin probably Monday checking 749 complaints made on real estate valuations and tax increases.

The board consists of Bell, Treasurer Vincent Judge and Commissioner Walter Hunston.

Each complaint will be checked and a form letter and card will be mailed to the protesting property owner, explaining reasons for the increase. If the taxpayer still is not satisfied, he may use the card to advise the board of the approximate date he can appear for a 15-minute hearing. It is not expected that any hearings will be held before late May, Bell said. The recent property reappraisal accounted for most of the boosts.

Mishap At Calcutta Damages 2 Autos; Halted Rig Struck

An area motorist and two truck drivers were cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon following collisions at Calcutta Thursday night and on Route 7 early today.

A car operated by James E. Beaver, 20, of R.D. 2 hit the left rear of an auto driven by Ray L. Collins, 41, of 882 Carolina Ave., Chester, at the intersection of Route 170 and St. Clair Ave. Ext. at 6:55 p.m.

Officers said Collins, headed east on Route 170, halted for the intersection, then started a left turn when his car was hit from behind by the one drive by Beaver.

There was moderate damage to both vehicles. Beaver was charged with unsafe operation.

A stake truck operated by Robert D. Zwingler, 29, of North Lima hit the rear of a disabled tractor-trailer truck on Route 7 about a mile south of the intersection with Route 47 at 4:35 a.m. today.

The halted rig was operated by Lee W. Johnson, 26, of Farrell, officers said. Both vehicles were headed south.

Zwingler was scheduled to visit his physician at Youngstown for possible injuries, the patrol said. Johnson was charged with failure to display warning devices on a disabled rig, and Zwingler was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance. There was considerable damage to the stake truck, minor damage to the bigger rig, officers said.

X15 Carries Gauge Up To 92,000 Feet

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An X15 rocket plane carried a gauge to 92,000 feet in a preview of conditions the craft will meet in re-entry from heights of 70 miles.

The X15's needle-like nose antenna was replaced Thursday by a spherical pressure gauge designed to measure dynamic pressure.

Space agency pilot Joseph A. Walker held the speed down to 3,682 miles per hour, well below the record 4,104 m.p.h. set last June by Air Force Maj. Robert White.

Will Offset Tax Cut Aid, He Declares

President Aims Criticism At GOP Asking Fund Slash

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today a $5 billion cut in his budget would cost a million jobs and offset all the benefits from a proposed tax cut.

In an address prepared for a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the President said he wasn't saying that federal spending is desirable just for the sake of spending, or that economy efforts should stop.

But, in words aimed obviously at Republican critics who have been calling for reductions of up to $15 billion in his $100 billion budget, Kennedy said:

"But I am saying that carefully screened and selected federal expenditure programs can play a useful role, both singly and in combination; that to cut $5 billion to $10 billion from the proposed budget would harm both the nation and the typical neighborhood in it; and that the right way to a balanced budget is to seek first a balanced economy. The tax cuts I have proposed, and the level of expenditures I have proposed, have been carefully fitted together with that chief objective in mind."

For the most part, the speech dealt with economics at home. Kennedy drew a picture of a typical American community he called "Random Village," and told at length how it is affected by activities of the federal government.

But the President also referred at the outset to the Cuban invasion fiasco of two years ago and the handling of the Cuban crisis of last October, and he said that "there is today more widespread assurance that both peace and freedom can prevail."

He added that, while vigilance cannot be relaxed, there is a tendency among many newspaper readers and writers to devote more attention to the domestic scene. So he, too, concentrated on that.

In toto, the speech added up to a massive plea for the program he has submitted to Congress, including his proposed $10 billion net tax cut, spread over three years.

As for the average family man in "Random Village," Kennedy said, the cut would reduce his federal taxes about 20 per cent. The whole community, he said, "will benefit even more from the stimulation in jobs and personal income that the tax cut will give to the nation."

U.S. Steps Up Watchfulness In Caribbean

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. patrol planes and ships have intensified their watchfulness over Caribbean waters between Cuba and Central and South America, it was learned today.

These patrols, including some aircraft operating out of the Panama Canal Zone, keep tabs on all cargo and passenger type ships outbound from Cuba.

Of particular interests are 18 Soviet built trawlers believed operated by the Cubans. The Navy makes it its business to know where these are at all times.

When it is determined a ship may be heading for Latin America, the government concerned is notified. Thus, that government would be in position to send its own naval forces to halt any vessel suspected of carrying arms or men—or to ask for U.S. aid.

The Navy is especially alert for any concentrations of shipping in Cuban harbors, indicating an armed expedition might be gathering.

Resigns In Warning Of Reds In Hemisphere

Cuban Exile Leader Says Kennedy Broke Pledge For Second Invasion

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, stepping down as leader of Cubans in exile, charges that President Kennedy has given Fidel Castro "absolute immunity in the execution of Khrushchev's sinister designs."

In a 6,500-word resignation letter that split the Cuban Revolutionary Council apart, Miro accused Kennedy of backing out on a promise of a second invasion and of "liquidating" the struggle for Cuba.

And he warned that the Soviet premier, "day by day, will increase his army of local Communists" in the Western Hemisphere until a "terrifying catastrophe" develops.

In support of Miro and his stand, nine members of the 16-man council quit during a 4½-hour session that followed Miro's departure.

No successor was chosen to head the council, which was formed with U.S. government support to launch the futile invasion at the Bay of Pigs. But Dr. Manuel Antonio de Varona, Miro's right-hand man, said he would seek to strengthen the council by wooing more of the many exile groups into its ranks. And he said every effort would be made to gain U.S. help for the Cuban exile cause.

Miro, first prime minister of the Castro regime who later defected, said Kennedy told him at a meeting in the White House April 10, 1962, nearly a year after the first invasion, that the problem of Cuba was essentially a military one and that the council should contribute the major contingent of soldiers.

"I left the White House with the assurance that the liberation of Cuba would follow soon with Cubans at the vanguard in battle," he said. He indicated that this was to be in connection with the Cuban blockade that President Kennedy proclaimed Oct. 22, 1962.

Later, he said, U.S. policy on Cuba "shifted suddenly, violently and unexpectedly" and "the struggle for Cuba was in the process of being liquidated by the government."

The United States was the victim of a "master move" by the Soviets, Miro declared.

During the negotiations that followed the blockade, he asserted, Khrushchev maintained his attack and subversion base in the Caribbean, strengthened Castro's military capacity to the point where he could smash an uprising of the Cuban people, and "immobilized" the United States and the rest of the Western Hemisphere. "These, in all their crude reality, are the facts," Miro said.

"The repeated assurances, the constantly renewed promises, have been suddenly liquidated."

The White House said there would be no comment. Miro had delivered a copy of his document to the State Department, which called it "highly inaccurate and distorted."

Noted Circus Aerialist, 42, Killed In Fall

Member Of Famed Wallendas Dies In Tumble At Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Yetta Grotolent, 42, of the famed circus aerialist family, the Wallendas, died in a 50-foot fall from her slender gray pole at a Shrine Circus performance Thursday night.

She had reached the climax of her solo act and was swaying back and forth in a wide arc when, as the pole was on a back swing, Yetta suddenly tumbled backward and plummeted to her death as 4,666 spectators watched in awed silence.

She was the third member of the troupe to die in a fall in the last 16 months.

Dieter Schepp, 23, and Richard Faughnan, 29, were killed in Detroit on Jan. 30, 1962, in a high wire accident involving seven members of the troupe.

Yetta was not a member of that act.

What caused the death of the 42-year-old Yetta?

A member of the Kristensen troupe of equestrians said in a taped interview that "I think she must have passed out up there because she didn't scream or nothing."

Several other circus people said they had heard Yetta wasn't feeling well before she began her solo act.

Some spectators said the aerialist appeared to slip.

In an interview in Detroit in 1958, Yetta had said that when she was on the indoor pole "it seems so little I feel I have to do more to impress the audience. I get a little reckless."

Injunction Continues

Ruling Deferred On Hancock Tax

Circuit Judge James G. McClure has taken under advisement for study all briefs, motions and evidence submitted Thursday in a controversial court dispute over Hancock County's real estate tax reappraisal program.

In yesterday's second court hearing on the reappraisal program under attack by a group of Weirton property owners, Judge McClure ordered a temporary injunction to remain in effect until his decision.

THE INJUNCTION, which prohibits county and state from levying taxes on the property of the Weirton group, was issued on a temporary basis April 8.

Judge McClure said he will rule on the question later this month, and his decision will apparently set a precedent for other courts to follow in the event of similar cases.

The jurist said yesterday that the suit of the complaining Weirton property owners is now considered a "class case," apparently meaning that the outcome will not only apply to the Weirton group, but to all taxpayers in Hancock County.

The suit of the Weirton group attacking the reappraisal of Cole, Layer & Trumble of Dayton represents the first challenge in West Virginia of the state adopted program.

NEW assessment figures based on the reappraisal conducted by the Dayton firm were put into effect for the first time this spring. Assessments showed a $28 million increase.

In Wake Of Lobbyist's Gifts

Changes In Philippines Bill Given Top Priority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield gave top priority today to proposed revamping of the Philippines war claims bill after disclosure of a lobbyist's campaign gifts to Congress members sympathetic to the bill.

But Mansfield made it clear he is "certain in my own mind that no member of the Senate was influenced by these contributions in any way and they did not affect their votes on legislation."

The Montana was referring to 1960 contributions by Washington lawyer-lobbyist John A. O'Donnell—including gifts of $2,000 to Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., and $500 each to Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee released testimony Thursday that pictured O'Donnell as interested in passage of the $73-million war claims bill because he stood to gain from $150,000 to nearly a half-million dollars in fees.

Zablocki and Miller were chief sponsors of the bill in the House. Humphrey introduced it in the Senate. It passed both bodies last summer by a voice vote—with no record roll call.

The bill provides for payment of individual damage claims growing out of Japanese occupation of the Philippines in World War II. None of the money has been dispensed yet.

$750 Million Approved For Ohio's Roads

OK'd Unanimously In Senate; Highway Safety Fund Voted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio will be building another big batch of roads in the next two years.

That became certain Thursday when the Senate passed unanimously a House-approved bill appropriating nearly $750 million to build:

One-hundred and forty miles of interstate highways, 44 miles of major urban highways, 170 miles of primary roads, 140 miles of secondary roads and 2,000 miles of resurfacing present highways.

There are a few minor items to clean up before the bill reaches the desk of Gov. James A. Rhodes for his signature. One is House approval of a Senate amendment to pay up nearly $10 million in back money due the Public Employees Retirement System by both the Highway and the Highway Safety departments.

The Senate also passed unanimously and returned to the House for concurrence in amendments a bill appropriating more than $28 million for operating the Highway Safety Department—including the Highway Patrol—for the next two years.

A third appropriation bill, the biggest of all, still is under study by the House Finance Committee which expects to be able to have it ready for the House floor in another two weeks. It is the general budget bill calling for nearly $1.3 billion to operate the state for the next two years. When the House finishes with it, the Senate expects to take another month to give the big money bill another fine-tooth-comb treatment.

Hancock Tax Ruling Slated

lion increase due to the readjustment of the appraisal figures.

State Tax Commissioner G. Thomas Battle ordered Hancock County Court to use the Dayton firm's figures as a guide in determining property tax assessments.

County Court had acted Feb. 28 to adopt the 1962 assessments as a basis for 1963 property valuations, but the plan was disproved by the Charleston tax head.

Many test cases alleging support of contentions of both sides were presented during Thursday's arguments in New Cumberland.

CLAUDE Joyce, Patrick Bower and Jack McCarty represented the attorney general's office. Also present were Battle, state tax chief; Atty. Frank A. Pietrantoni, counsel for the Weirton group, and Atty. Floyd R. Tarr and Atty. Don Donell, legal advisors for County Court and the county assessor.

Judge McClure said that he will base his decision on two issues in the case. They are:

"Whether the state tax commissioner has the authority to reassess or order the reassessment of property by the county court and whether his authority has been properly exercised as far as the owners of property in Hancock County are concerned, and whether the county court has the authority to reconvene for the purpose of hearing tax complaints."

JOYCE contends that Battle does have the authority to direct County Court to base the 1963 assessments on the professional appraisal firm's figures after Feb. 28.

County Court sat as a Board of Equalization and Review until Feb. 28 to hear tax complaints, but the complete figures were not put into effect until later.

Atty. Pietrantoni contends the tax program is unconstitutional because the reappraisal was instituted in only nine counties in the state. He said the tax reappraisal is not valid in West Virginia until it is instituted in all 55 counties at once.

Also present at the hearing was Atty. Ralph Barone Jr. of Weirton, who said he represents taxpayers other than the eight involved who are interested in joining the suit.

Decision Looms In Laos

Continued pro-Communist assaults against neutralist forces in Laos may soon force upon the United States and the entire Southeast Asia Treaty Organization the decision no one is anxious to make.

The fighting, strongly reminiscent of the Laotian civil war everyone thought was settled last year at Geneva, is threatening the neutralized government of tiny but strategically important Laos, the gateway to South Viet Nam.

THE UNITED STATES already is involved in a costly little war in South Viet Nam and the possibility of governmental collapse in Laos could deepen that involvement considerably. The fate of all Southeast Asia would hang in the balance.

A battle for influence in Asia is being staged in Laos by Russia and Communist China. And although Soviet Premier Khrushchev agreed in Vienna in 1961 to work with President Kennedy to maintain a neutral Laos, he has been hanging back to avoid an open break with Red China, which is making no bones about trying to dominate Asia.

In fact, North Vietnamese troops assisting the pro-Communist Laos forces are being supplied by both Red China and Russia.

THE RISKS of further intervention by the United States and SEATO will have to be weighed carefully. This country and SEATO are committed to maintaining peace and neutrality in Laos as a protection against subversion of all Southeast Asia.

There is a distinct danger that if SEATO sent troops back into Thailand the conflict would become hotter than anyone wants to imagine. That danger must be weighed against the greater risk of a Communist takeover in Laos and eventual Red domination of the continent.

Heritage Week

West Virginia Heritage Week will be observed April 20-26.

In pointing to the occasion, Rex M. Smith, state superintendent of schools, had this to say: "More than ever before West Virginia teachers should strive to make their students aware of our magnificent state and of the opportunities that lie within it. Through knowledge and hard work we can convert these opportunities into realities."

Students of today have only to thumb the pages of history to be reminded of the part that Hancock County residents have played in the state's past. If they write an equally brilliant chapter, West Virginia's future also is assured.

Why Do They Bet?

The National Football League's suspension of Paul Hornung and Alex Karras for professional football betting raises at least one big question in the minds of everyone even remotely interested in sports: Why should two of the top paid players in the business stoop to betting for what amounts to peanuts?

The gamble, as Hornung and Karras must realize by now, was much too great. Suspension means no pay. And, since NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says the cases won't be reviewed before 1964, it means both will be lost for the coming season.

UNDOUBTEDLY, Rozelle's tough crack-down on these two stars, and his fines against five other Detroit players and the Detroit club, were motivated by a desire to keep from professional football the suspicion of game-throwing that has hit other spectator sports.

There is too much at stake in professional sports to fool around with even casual betting, for betting can and has led to shading of points and throwing of games and consequent loss of public support.

Keep Prosecutors Independent

A bill that has slipped through the Ohio House of Representatives without dissent carries a sleeper provision that has county prosecutors up in arms.

The bill, now before an Ohio Senate committee, should be shot down before it gets to the floor for a final vote.

It would eliminate one of the checks and balances from county government by giving county commissioners the power to set the salary of a prosecutor's assistant.

Funds for salaries in the prosecutor's office now are prescribed by common pleas court and administered by the prosecutor. And that is where the authority should rest.

In the words of one prosecutor, the present system puts the moral force of the court solidly behind the prosecutor's position of independence from those whose dealings he must scrutinize—including the county commissioners.

Mixed Hair

By Truman Twill

Spurred on by the thumpers of an outfit that makes hair dye, forward-looking legislators in the states are striking blows for the dignity of the individual.

They are getting rid of this stupid question to applicants for drivers' licenses—"What color is your hair?"

Iowa is the latest state to come abreast of the time. New York and Maine already have ditched the question. Illinois, New Hampshire and Texas are thinking about ditching it.

The chief beneficiaries of the reform are women, who now are free to change the color of their hair at will, thanks to modern chemistry. Among women who take advantage of this freedom practically none would be caught with the same hair color a whole year at a time.

At any given moment, one of these babes might be picked up by an inquisitive cop and hauled to the pokey for pretending to be a brunette when any cool could see she is a torch-top.

Women, schwomen. What they do to their hair, as long as they do something, is all right with me. It's men who should be happy about getting rid of the darned fool question about hair color.

I always keep my hat on during the licensing ordeal. This is why my driver's license says the color of my hair is "Mx," meaning "mixed." It is a mixed hat. It started out to be one thing and now is several other things.

There have been times when snippets of girls who make out licenses have evinced strong interest in seeing my hair as it really is. When I take off my hat, they swallow hard and get busy with an eraser. It was out of one such interlude that "Mx" got on the license the first time.

What it should say is "Flesh" for flesh colored hair. This would come close to the truth, because from 10 feet away all my hair is flesh-colored. All you can see is the color of the skin on which it grows.

Grows? Precisely. The hair is there. You can feel it with the fingertips if they have been brushed up with sandpaper.

You can see it against a strong light, or by brushing it with your cheek. That is the best way—the cheek test. Come closer, child . . .

I wouldn't get far with cheek-testing at the license bureau. The quicker they get rid of the question about hair, the better it will be. The answers never meant much, and now they mean nothing.

The lady I live with was the purtiest brunette I ever did see when she departed from a state of single blessedness. She now is the purtiest something else I ever did see and we have an agreement that in the next reincarnation she will be a torch-top.

Me. I was a brunette. Today I'm a fleshet. And when I have put by enough money to buy a hair-piece I'll be iron-grey, like mimes who play important fellows on television. They all wear wigs, too.

And for weekends, I'll turn dark and curly. Sure, you can see my driver's license, officer. Mixed hair, that's me.

This And That

The first telephone exchange was put into operation in Boston on May 17, 1877. It was located in the office of Edwin Thomas Holmes, who had an electrical burglar alarm business. The switchboard was connected with six subscribers, mostly banks and similar institutions. The telephones were connected only in the daytime and the wires were used at night for the burglar-alarm system.

Mica is a mineral which can be fashioned into sheets as thin as tissue paper. A piece of this mineral an inch thick can be made into almost a thousand sheets each of them as thin as the thinnest tissue paper.

'Nho's Wervous?'

Rockefeller Seeks Labor's Backing

By Victor Riesel

Nelson A. Rockefeller, talking in the spirit and voice of a presidential candidate, has bluntly told his people to go out and fight for the labor and big city vote.

Victor Riesel

The governor has said in a series of private meetings that he has gotten such votes before by the millions and he will not—and believes that the Republican party should not—concede the nation's union members and city residents to the Democratic party.

President Kennedy has his doubts about all this. But he appears to be taking no chances, especially not on losing enough of the labor vote in New York State to forfeit its huge batch of electoral votes to its governor.

The White House has scheduled a series of labor luncheons for the President to discuss the influential policy - making New York union leaders have been invited. The first will be held on April 20 and the second on May 2.

These are reports there will be other such "give and take" luncheons with labor men for an exchange of ideas on taxes, automation, unemployment and the economy. Before such gatherings are over, Mr. Kennedy will have seen in these informal get-togethers virtually all of the land's national and international union presidents.

MANY OF THESE men have been Mr. Rockefeller's friends—and even political supporters in recent years. But he has long felt that most of them will swing back to the Democrats in '64. He would rather attempt to win the labor vote with them on his side. But he'll try without them.

One of his pile-driving campaign proposals will be a plan to create 20 million new jobs in the next five years.

Rockefeller will hammer at this as one of his most basic domestic issues. He'll hit it over and over again. He and his inner circle are considering opening up on this in his speech in Cincinnati on April 29 at a testimonial dinner to young Robert Taft and to Ray Bliss, GOP Ohio Chairman.

Mr. Bliss is the inner spring of the Republicans' big city drive—with which he has done well in Ohio in recent elections.

ROCKEFELLER will run with the issue like an old-fashioned plunging fullback. He'll hit at Mr. Kennedy's line on taxes.

The governor will reiterate that a huge immediate tax cut of some $10 billion in one year while holding the national budget at about a $93 billion level will create the necessary jobs. He'll add that by bringing the working force up to almost 90 million, the land will have a partial answer to automation.

It was during his visit to Washington on April 10 that the "labor-big city - minorities" question was put to him. At mid-morning that day he met with some 50 members of the Capitol Hill Club at the Congressional Hotel. This is made up of wives of Republican congressmen.

THE GOVERNOR was asked —did he not think that it was hopeless for the Republican party to attempt to win labor and big city votes?

Later at a luncheon of some 150 members of the Bull Elephants—a group of administrative assistants to GOP congressmen—virtually the same question was posed.

To both groups he gave the following answer:

It is not necessarily so, said the governor, that the Republicans lose, or will lose, big city groups.

He said the Democrats have a 4-1 superiority over the Republicans among registered voters. But he came within 150,000 votes of carrying New York City, a record almost unprecedented. This, he added, was 100,000 better than he did when he ran for governor in 1958.

In 1962 the AFL-CIO Council was neutral here for the first time in years. It traditionally endorses the Democratic candidate. Despite this, many of the city's most influential union leaders quietly worked for him and gave the signal to their people to run rallies for him.

MANY OPENLY endorsed him. Though it is still early, there are moves to set up a national labor campaign committee, not only in New York but across the country.

Rockefeller believes that by planning housing projects, by encouraging collective bargaining, by working with many labor men who are not necessarily in the national leadership and by always keeping his door and telephone open to them, he won strong support in '62. What he did in New York he hopes to do nationally.

In view of John Kennedy's intimacy with and popularity among the labor people, this is a herculean assignment.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Sixty members of the Chester High School band, under the direction of Howard Cochrane, participated in the annual Ohio Valley band tournament in Weirton.

Miss Anna Mae Mahoney of the Midland Junior Women's Club was named a director of the Beaver County Federated Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Susan Bourne was elected president of the McKinley Parent - Teacher Association of Wellsville.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Second Lt. James D. McGeehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. McGeehan of Grant St., received his wings and commission at the Army Air Force advanced flying field at Stockton, Calif.

Everett Heddlston was accepted as a new member of the East Liverpool Coin Club.

The executive officers of the East Liverpool Red Cross Chapter moved from quarters in City Hall to Mary Patterson Memorial.

TEN YEARS AGO — William B. Cooper was appointed chairman of the Columbiana County Savings Bond Committee.

Columbiana County's 1953 March of Dimes campaign totaled $31,579, an increase of $7,248 over the 1952 drive.

Odd Facts

The reason for the propeller at the rear of a helicopter is in support of Newton's third law of motion: To every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. The helicopter tends to spin in the opposite direction to that of the whirling blades overhead. The propeller on the tail controls the plane's tendency to rotate, keeping it from spinning in circles.

The first airplane flight of more than a half-hour was achieved on Oct. 4, 1905, when Orville Wright managed to keep his craft aloft for 33 minutes and 17 seconds.

Ancient Egyptian dice specimens found in the ruins of Thebes indicate that, even in those days, some of the little dancing cubes were being "loaded" to make cheating easier.

Beavers are great soil conservationists. Their dams regulate water flow and prevent hasty run-offs and consequent floods. In many instances, these animals have been trapped and planted in locations where this sort of work is needed.

The Lost Year

By David Lawrence

Delayed Price Hike Harmful To Nation

It's strange what a difference a single year makes. Facts that to some people didn't seem like facts before suddenly are recognized as facts. The unfortunate part is that, when there has been a 12-month loss of momentum particularly in the economic progress of the country, the David Lawrence damage done by the mistakes in judgement which arose from indifference to truth cannot be repaired.

This is the situation today with respect to steel prices. A year ago, a proposed increase in steel prices was tabooed without warrant of law but by fiat of the President of the United States, accompanied by threats of reprisals against the steel companies.

Now, however, the same reasons are advanced for the price rise by the steel companies, and almost the same language is used to announce the increase, but fortunately this time the administration acquiesces.

LOOKING BACK to dispatches analyzing what happened a year ago, one finds on March 30—eleven days before the price rise in steel was announced—the following analysis by this writer: "As for price-raising in the future, there will, indeed, be some. Little publicity will be given to the matter, and the increases will be 'selective'—in those categories where competition isn't so keen and where specialization in product can be a helpful factor in making sales at higher prices."

It was expected at the time that the process would be normal and would not attract much attention. But the President decided to make an issue of it.

He disregarded completely the points made on April 10 when Leslie B. Worthington, president of the U.S. Steel Corp., issued a statement announcing the price increase.

Mr. Worthington's argument is interesting to re-read now in the light of what has happened this week. He had said:

"In the three years since the end of 1958, United States Steel has spent $1,185 billion for modernization and replacement of facilities and for the development of new sources of raw materials. Internally, there were only two sources from which this money could come: Depreciation and re-invested profit.

"Depreciation in these years amounted to $610 million; and re-invested profit, $187 million—or, together, only about two-thirds of the total sum required.

"So after using all the income available from operations, we had to make up the difference of $388 million out of borrowings from the public.

"In fact, during the period 1958-61 we have actually borrowed a total of $800 million to provide for present and future needs. And this must be repaid out of profits that have not yet been earned and will not be earned for some years to come."

MR. WORTHINGTON pointed out that reinvested profits had declined from $115 million in 1958 to less than $3 million in 1961.

These economic facts were ignored by the administration. The next day President Kennedy at his news conference spoke out about how "a tiny handful of steel executives whose pursuits of private power and profit exceeds their sense of public responsibility can show such utter contempt for the interests of 183 million Americans."

Three days later, the Associated Press summed up the attack as follows:

"The arsenal of weapons the President wheeled into his all-out economic foray against big business leaders was an awesome display of coldly determined political and economic power seldom if ever before employed by the government. Every major governmental department got into the act."

As early as Feb. 26, 1962, Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, in an interview published in U.S. News & World Report, had described the rising costs of the corporation and had then said, in effect, that a price increase was inevitable.

Yet, when the price increase was announced, the administration accused the steel executives of "bad faith," implying they had somehow agreed not to advance prices.

As late as Dec. 17, 1962, Mr. Kennedy declined to concede that an error had been made in handling the whole problem and declared that, if he had it to do over again, he would do exactly as he did in April 1962.

The same economic facts exist now in April 1963 as were evident in April 1962. The same reasoning has just been applied by the steel companies as they were trying to follow when the administration stepped in a year ago.

WHO WILL PAY for the loss of a year's time in the economic progress of the country? Who will make up the loss in values and loss in jobs that came as a result of the stagnation of the steel industry?

How can the country be protected against impulsive judgments by public officials based on political considerations, and how can the nation be assured that economic facts will be treated hereafter with the respect they deserve?

It's Up To Kennedy

By James Marlow

Now it's up to the Kennedy administration to explain why Cuban refugees, perhaps 4,000 of them, are being trained in the American armed forces—and for what.

Neither President Kennedy nor the Defense Department has ever clearly explained it. Some of the training has been in amphibious warfare, the kind that would come in handy in an invasion of Cuba.

But the administration now not only shows no signs of wanting such an invasion but has even blocked the Cuban refugees from making hit-and-run raids on Fidel Castro's island from American soil.

And Thursday a leader of the refugees—Dr. Jose Miro Cardona—hit the President from two directions, neither of them flattering.

1. He said Kennedy ran out on a promise—"absolute and total"—to back a second invasion of Cuba. He said Kennedy made the promise right after the first invasion failed in 1961. Kennedy took responsibility for that one.

2. And the Cuban, just retired as president of the Cuban Revolutionary Army, implied that Premier Khrushchev outwitted the President by putting Soviet troops in Cuba.

After that, Miro said, "American government policy has shifted suddenly, violently and unexpectedly."

Miro said that in conversations with Kennedy he understood the American armed forces would train refugee volunteers briefly and that they then would be regrouped in a single army.

But he said that since last fall—when Khrushchev put both missiles and troops in Cuba—Kennedy has become increasingly cautious about any action which might involve this country with Russia.

Miro made his complaint against Kennedy in a 6,500-word blast. When it became known several days ago that he intended to do this, the State Department issued a statement attempting to discredit him.

It said his account of his conversations with Kennedy were "highly inaccurate and distorted." Even before this statement came out a U.S. government source said Miro had demanded a voice in a U.S. invasion of Cuba or else $50 million to equip an invasion against Castro.

Miro is not the only exile leader to belittle Kennedy's zeal for trying to dislodge Castro. Others did it April 3. One of them, Dr. Orlando Bosch, pretty well expressed what the others said in this sentence:

"As for joining the U.S. Army, we don't agree with any plan the U.S. government may have because so far it has demonstrated nothing but indecision regarding direct action against Castro."

At his news conference that same day Kennedy was extremely vague about future action against Cuba. He was equally vague on why any Cuban refugees should join the U.S. armed forces.

He said the trainees "can serve with the common cause. I think there are a good many very determined, persistent Cubans who are determined that their island should be free, and we wish to assist them."

He did not say at any time publicly his invitation to the refugees to join the American Army would lead to direct action against Castro. But that only makes this basic question more pertinent:

If they're not being prepared for an invasion, then why is this government going to the expense and trouble of training them?

Phone Fraud Term Given

George Nicholas, 32, of 356 Main St., Wellsville, was sentenced to the County Jail Thursday for 90 days by County Judge James L. MacDonald of Lisbon, who suspended two months of the term providing he pays costs and reimburses the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. for fraudulent long distance calls.

Nicholas, a bartender at the 356 Club in Wellsville, was accused of fraudulent use of a telephone credit card and pleaded guilty April 2.

The judge suspended part of the term if he pays costs of $27.15 and for the $101.98 phone bill for long distance calls, some of which were made on the number of the credit card of the American Cancer Society and others on a phone in Wellsville.

Company representatives testified 10 calls were made in all from the period of March 17 until shortly before his arrest March 29. Testimony indicated he overheard a phone patron give the operator the society's credit card number and used it for personal calls made later. The company credited alert night operators who became suspicious of the use of the credit card number. Investigation resulted in the arrest.

Donald Honicky, manager of the East Liverpool phone office, said this was the first such case within the area served by Ohio Bell but that a previous conviction was obtained by another phone firm elsewhere in the state. The law concerning fraudulent use of a credit card was enacted in 1961.

was described by James Locke at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Locke, operator of a city store, pointed out that the ordinary person is not acquainted with the characteristics of jewels, and requires guidance on the difference between a genuine and artificial gem.

He said there is a personal relationship between a customer and a jeweler in whom confidence is placed for the purchase of an item which is most often obtained as a cherished gift.

Locke also displayed various gems and discussed the science and mining methods involved. He was introduced by Alex Kidd, program chairman.

Three new members were introduced — William Woods, manager of J. C. Penney Co. store, the Rev. John Clark of the Methodist Church and the Rev. Albert Rodenhausen of the First Baptist Church. Installation will be held May 9 with Rowland Kaufman in charge.

Roy Cooper has been named chairman of the membership committee, succeeding Al Weber who has moved from the city.

4 More Drivers Get $10 Fines On Speeding Counts

Four more drivers cited in a police department radar check Thursday night on the W. 8th St. "super-road" stretch drew fines of $10 and costs today when they pleaded guilty to speeding charges before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The defendants, all charged with exceeding the 35-mile limit, were:

The department started the crackdown nearly two weeks ago after Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said he had received repeated complaints of speeding. Most of the arrests have been made on W. 8th St.

Driver Cited As Auto Goes Onto Railway

A 26-year-old motorist was cited Thursday night at 9 after his auto missed a turn at the Broadway crossing and went about 50 yards along the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks, officers reported.

Frank E. Hanlon, 112 W. Center Ln., was charged with driving an auto without an operator's permit, police said. The front of his 1951 four-door sedan was damaged, police said.

Hanlon told police he was driving west on the River Rd. and turning north onto the crossing when the car's brakes failed. The car traveled west along the right-of-way about 150 feet before halting, police said.

The charge was filed by Lt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice, who investigated.

Hanlon pleaded guilty today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. He said he never has had a driver's license, although he obtained a learner's permit two weeks ago.

Judge Chertoff sentenced Hanlon to 10 days in the County Jail. Commenting caustically on Hanlon's extremely long hair and sideburns, the judge said he will suspend the sentence if the defendant obtains a haircut.

A second charge was filed this morning, accusing Hanlon of using license plates issued for another auto. Pleading guilty, he was fined $25 and costs.

Two autos were damaged in a mishap on Dresden Ave. near Smith St. Thursday at 9:40 a.m., officers said.

The collision involved a 1960 station wagon driven by William F. White, 39, of Newell, and a 1963 sedan operated by Barbara Thompson, 25, of Post Office Box 37, Chester, officers said.

Both cars were headed north and White attempted a right turn onto Smith St., police said. The crash damaged the right front door and rear fender of the White auto and the left fender, bumper and door of the Thompson car, officers said.

Wilson was re-elected to serve as trustee for a three-year term. Robert Hamilton and Harold Huston are also trustees. Herbert Thompson was re-elected as a trustee by the church at a congregational meeting held earlier.

James Harsha, also a trustee, was appointed to obtain and install suitable containers for refuse and trash to be located in the cemetery area.

A beautification program of painting and general cleaning is being arranged. The blacktop driveways are to be repaired and a sealing coat will be applied this summer.

Upon the church's request, the group granted permission to clean up the wooded area behind the church to be used for recreation, including outdoor group meetings.

Man Gets In Cruiser And Winds Up In Jail

A Maryland man who climbed into the back seat of a halted police cruiser Thursday night—apparently mistaking it for a taxi—wound up in City Jail, charged with intoxication.

Identified as Glen Swiger of White Marsh, Md., the man stepped into the cruiser driven by Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes about 9:40 last night while it was halted for a traffic light on Mulberry St.

"Since he was intoxicated, I just drove him to the station and filed charges," Officer Hayes reported. Swiger, an itinerant, was fined $10 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, but the penalty was suspended on condition he left town immediately.

PHENYLKETONURIA

Q. What is phenylketonuria? Is there any treatment?

A. Phenylketonuria is an inheritable disorder of body chemistry often associated with mental defects. Progress has recently been made in treatment of this disorder through dietary means. Early diagnosis (during infancy) is essential in warding off the mental effects of phenylketonuria.

HEART CONSCIOUSNESS

Q. Lately I can not rest or sleep on my left side because my heart pumps so fast and hard. I am under medical treatment but not for heart trouble. What causes this?

A. Most people have probably had this experience. Thumping of the heart may be especially noticeable when everything is quiet and sleep seems far off. Change position in bed and the heart will "quiet down," or at least the heart beat won't be noticed so much. Awareness of body functions such as the heart beat is usually not a manifestation of serious disease.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

A Zumbi Writes A Danny Kaye Fan Letter

The other night I realized an ambition I've harbored since 1940 or thereabouts. I became a zumbi. On that afternoon 23 years ago when I played hockey from high school and bent my steps toward the New York Theater to see new comedian named Danny Kaye, I was a schtuck-schtuck. A

Alan Gill

A few years later, as Mr. Kaye entertained a multitude of servicemen on a mountaintop in Okinawa, I was a ha-ha-ha. If you've been a member of a Danny Kaye audience yourself, then you recall how the fellow splits his audience into three sections — the zumbis at the right, the schtuck-schtucks in the center, the ha-ha-ha's at the left — and how he takes a particular pride in the ha-ha-ha's and looks with disdain upon the zumbis because they're always coming in too early or too late with their zumbi-m-m-m. ("What's the matter with you, you zumbis you!")

THE OTHER NIGHT at the Ziegfeld Theater in Manhattan, I learned that being a zumbi was a good deal more fun than being either of the others. But then, I suppose, it's fun sitting anywhere in a Kaye audience.

He can start out with some routines you saw him do last November on television ("The Glory Hallelujah Twist" or a lengthy cigarette commercial delivered in a French accent), then do some movies (e.g., his impression of a night club singer who just misses the note he's looking for), and end up with the songs his father wrote for him ("when he was nine weeks old" ("Anatole of Paris," "Dinah," "Minnie the Moocher") and somehow convince you that it is all spanning nice and freshly funny.

And it is, Kaye is having so convincingly blissful a time up there on the stage that every word and gesture seems hot out of the oven.

TOWARD THE END of the evening, he confides to us that nobody—no, nobody in this world—enjoys Danny Kaye in the throes of entertaining an audience more than Danny Kaye does, and the confidence brings with it a surge of hope that maybe & just maybe —he'll stay on all night long.

His best moments come, though, when he "plays" the audience the way Harpo plays the harp—when he gets us singing hi-dee-hi-dee-ho back at him or crooning a whole chorus of "Balling the Jack" or giving him the zumbis, schtuck-schtucks, and ha-ha-ha's.

In that Okinawan show I mentioned, he "played" on those scores of thousands of G.I.'s, Marines, and Navy men for a good three hours and never let the delirious slip for a moment. (Most inspired comedy performance I've set eyes on!)

WHEN DANNY slips, it's into a puddle of sentimentality; and the man should keep his eyes to the road and avoid all sudden immersions. (He steered clear of such potholes the other night at the Ziegfeld — which I took as a good omen for his television series of next season.)

Every once in a while, too, he throws his left arm horizontally across his chest, whips his right arm in front of him in a vertical line, covers his face with his hand, as though is about to unscrew it, and falls into a fit of laughter. These seizures almost always seem to me rather forced and resistible.

But Kaye has never moved with such swift, eccentric grace, or looked younger, or led an audience into higher pitches of excitement.

He can take a small piece of business he invented 20 years ago (a small boy trying at great length to pronounce the word "rhinoceros") and make it funnier than it's ever been. For at least one of his ever-faithful zumbis, he is the greatest entertainer of them all.

I don't know what he's going to do with a one-hour TV show every week next season, though, and I guess he doesn't either. I've been told by one completely dependable source that Kaye will be little more than a "pointer," like Ed Sullivan, and by another that he'll be all over the place, like Milton Berle.

At the Ziegfeld, Kaye is neither Sullivan or Berle. He gives us generously of himself for half the evening and turns the other half over to an excellent company of vaudevillians (Senor Wences, the Dunhills, the Marquis Family) and maybe that's the best format of them all.

74 At Program Held For Senior Citizens

About 74 attended the meeting of these Senior Citizens Group Thursday afternoon in the Parish Hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. Ted Scheffer discussed coin collecting and displayed old coins. The Rev. John Clark of the First Methodist Church led devotions. Business was conducted by Frank Shone, president, and tentative plans were discussed for future activities.

Thank-you notes were received from shut-in members who received Easter baskets. Refreshments were served.

Members observing birthday anniversaries in April will be honored at Thursday's meeting.

Truck Driver Forfeits

LISBON — Donald C. Hauenstein, 28, of Dalton forfeited a $15 appearance bond Thursday in Mayor Dean Stockman's court on a charge of ignoring a stop light. His truck hit the rear of the car of Edwin S. Ward, 40, of W. Washington St., who had halted at the intersection of W. Lincoln Ave. and the Public Square. Police Chief Leon Zahndt said the car received minor damage.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

DEAR HELOISE: When my boys were small, I took the good part of my worn contour sheets which is usually along the sides of a sheet (or perhaps the end if you have twin beds) and cut off the good contour part.

These . . . I sewed to the bottom of their quilt! This made the quilts contour . . . on one end so that they would slip over the bottom of their mattresses. Keeps the quilts from sliding off the bed and it's also easier to make the bed.

BERNICE BLAND.

Now Bernice . . . If you were here, I would make you a good cup 'o tea, light some of my dime store incense and tell you how wonderful I think you are! Who in this world would even think to sew the bottoms of a contour sheet on a quilt, comfort or blanket? None except you, my dear. It's terrific.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Please don't laugh at me but I have found a new way to wash windows during the winter. When the moisture collects on the inside of the window pane on cold mornings (when we have the heat on) did you know that you could take your squeegee or the windshield wiper from your husband's automobile and clean the windows and at the same time get rid of the moisture?

For those who have neither of the above they can wipe most of the moisture off with toilet tissue and then shine it beautifully with crumpled newspaper.

G. O. F.

DEAR HELOISE: The reason that one can use the ice which forms on the freezing compartment to water flowers and in their steam irons is — this ice is formed from condensed moisture from the air, like rain or snow.

The ice has never had any minerals in it, since it has evaporated from food placed in refrigerator, or condensed from the air which enters the refrigerator.

This melted ice is good to use in steam irons (which is what I do) as well as to water plants. As a librarian, I could not resist the challenge of this reference.

SHIRLEY N. WOOD.

DEAR HELOISE: I use the plastic bags which come from the cleaners for wrapping stoves, fans and dishes and pots and pans which are not used frequently and are kept stored out of the way. Saves recleaning these items when I get ready to use them again.

NELL S.

DEAR HELOISE: For 10 years my husband and I have fought over spilling coffee grounds on the drain board when pouring it from the can of coffee into the canister. We have tried using spoons, scoops, measures and everything.

Can you possibly settle this problem for us and tell us how to get the job done without spilling the coffee?

MR. AND MRS. FRITZ.

Have you ever tried slightly bending the coffee can before pouring it into the canister after the lid has been removed?

This also works on cornmeal boxes (which seems to be one of the biggest weevil drawers), oatmeal boxes and flour mixes. I keep all of these items in glass containers with a tight screw lid. Then if I bring a box of something home from the store which already contains a weevil . . . I can see it through the glass and I've already captured them completely so they can't get into my other food-stuffs.

HELOISE.

Palermo Now Faces Quiz In Burglary

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Philadelphia man, who had been freed on bond in an Ohio arson case and as a fugitive from Michigan, was in jail today awaiting questioning in a Pennsylvania burglary.

Frank D. Palermo Jr., 29, was ordered held Thursday on a detainer by Philadelphia police for questioning in the burglary of 40 blank checks.

Earlier in the day, Palermo was freed on $5,000 bond before a U.S. commissioner on a charge of fleeing Michigan to avoid prosecution for writing bad checks.

Palermo was arrested at Erie on April 10 on a charge of fleeing Ohio to avoid prosecution on an arson charge in a $1 million fire that swept the plush Youngstown Club Feb. 2. He was freed on that charge after posting $50,000 bond.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a traveling man who leaves home on Monday and returns on Friday. This has been my routine for 12 years.

My wife knew this when I married her eight years ago and she said it was okay with her — that she never would be about my being away. Her father worked on the railroad so she was accustomed to it.

She has kept her promise but now I think maybe I have other problems.

Last night I arrived home a few hours earlier than usual. The place was filled with cigar smoke. There was a cigar butt in the ash tray. My wife was washing her hair. When I asked about the smoke in the house and showed her the cigar butt she said, "I've always wanted to smoke a cigar — so tonight I tried one."

What do you think? — LOSING BY A NOSE.

Dear Nose: Any woman who can think that fast is going to be awfully hard to out-smart.

In the absence of other evidence, accept her explanation — and keep your eyes open.

And Contents Noted

Dear Ann: Our daughter received a party invitation in the mail yesterday. She said, "Isn't this cute?" and handed it to me.

Teachers Association Aide Sees Faculty Prestige Gain

Teaching as a career for a man has gained in prestige with both adults and college men, according to Keith H. Dunlevy, public relations chairman for the East Liverpool Teachers Association.

An attempt to encourage qualified students to become teachers is being conducted as part of Teaching Career Month.

Two nationwide studies by public opinion polls reveal an increasing awareness of the role played by male teachers, Dunlevy pointed out.

The American Institute of Public Opinion found that adults now consider teaching one of the three best professions a young man can enter. Medicine and engineering ranked first and second with teaching a close third.

A survey of male students in 123 colleges and universities showed teaching is the top choice for an after-college profession.

"The old unfavorable stereotype of the male teacher is disappearing rapidly," Dunlevy said, pointing out teaching was the third choice of the overall adult group but the second choice of the 21-29 age group and first choice of college men.

College-educated persons were found most likely to recommend teaching to a young man considering a career. As a greater percentage of the population becomes college-educated, the teaching profession will be viewed as an even better choice for young men to make, Dunlevy said.

Persons interested in learning more about teaching as a career may contact the ELTA or write Teaching, National Education Association, Washington 6, D. C.

Speed Up Baseball...

Baseball is seeking ways to speed up games so diamond fans will not be bored by long, drawn-out affairs. The American League has taken the first step, ordering pitchers to be in the on-deck circle when they are next in line to bat instead of waiting to amble out of the dugout. Also, the number of warmup pitches between innings has been limited. The National League hasn't adopted these rules so far, but probably will.

We would like to see the majors lay down a ruling that when a pitcher wants to issue an intentional walk that it be automatic. We can't see any reason for throwing four pitches outside. This would save a few minutes every time the situation came up.

RICH McKERNAN, former right-handed hurler for the high school and City League teams here, has been named head coach at a Junior High School in Lakewood near Cleveland.

In the summer, the former Baldwin-Wallace grad, is assistant director of summer baseball leagues, which is quite a job since he has to supervise some 80 teams which involve several thousand boys.

MONDAY during the University of Maryland-Clemson baseball game a brawl broke out and both benches unloaded. It was touched off when a Maryland player, after a slide into third, tried to come home with the winning run, but was tackled by the Clemson third baseman. Whatever you want to call it — football or baseball — Maryland won, 2-1.

Johnstone Shines For Army...

TERRY JOHNSTONE, who got his start in the East Liverpool Little League, didn't gain a decision but pitched a whale of a game for West Point Wednesday.

The game ended in a 0-0 tie and was called at the end of nine innings because of rain, but Johnstone had turned in a superb performance in striking out 11 University of Pennsylvania batters. He only gave up four hits and didn't walk a batter.

The Army got four hits and Johnstone got one of them.

A second year man at Army, Terry may get a chance to pitch against the New York Yankees Monday. The Yanks play an annual game with the Cadets at West Point.

As his mother, Mrs. Denver Johnstone, told him, "if you get a chance to pitch Terry, strike out Mickey Mantle."

Wucherer Misses Oddity...

BUTCH WUCHERER, manager of the Tri-State Lanes in Calcutta, almost pulled off a bowling oddity last Tuesday night on his "home" alleys.

Butch needed a strike in the last frame to hit a 702 series and also a triplicate. However, the veteran of the planks didn't get the strike. So he wound up with a 690 set and a 222 game.

In his other two games Butch had rolled a pair of 234's.

He remembers rolling one series higher than the 690 one time when he recorded a 698 in open bowling. His total the other night is his best effort in league bowling and is the highest rolled to date at the Tri-State Lanes, now in its first year of operation.

The only 700 series turned in so far this year was by Emery Walker of Chester. We had said earlier that Walker's 700 last month at Youngstown was his first, but he rolled another 700 series in 1959. Our apologies, Emery.

One County Record May Fall...

THE SPOTLIGHT in the Columbiana County track meet May 10 at Salem should shine brightly on Jim Ward of Columbiana. Only a junior, Ward turned in a 9.8 clocking in the 100-yard dash Saturday at Mt. Lebanon.

If Ward, who by the way is the son of Columbiana track coach Waldo Ward, can duplicate that time at Salem an ancient county record would fall.

George Gaines of Columbiana set the mark back in 1919 when he ran the 100 in 10 flat.

Ward also won the 220-yard dash Saturday in 23.1. The county mark, also held by Gaines, is 22 flat.

This 'N That In Sports...

OHIO STATE has landed some homegrown basketball talent. Coach Fred Taylor announced that Al Rowley, 6-1, captain of the Marion Harding team which was runner-up to Columbus East for the Class AA title, and Jerry Tischer, 6-5, Galion High's top scorer, have accepted scholarships.

REMEMBER Bo Rein, the great back from Niles who showed his spurs in the opener at East Liverpool last September? He will attend Ohio State University on a full grant-in-aid scholarship.

Woody Hayes said he hopes Rein can fill the shoes of Paul Warfield.

THE LIST of coaching vacancies in the area continues to grow. Some are leaving on their own but others have been asked to resign.

"Jumpin' Joe" Richards, the former star at Washington & Jefferson who hails from Aliquippa, was dismissed as head basketball coach at Garaway in Tuscarawas County. Joe's team won eight games last year and he had only one senior in the starting lineup.

He had successful teams at Flushing, but apparently didn't win enough games at Garaway.

A Tri-County Coach, Ray Sulzer of Louisville resigned as head basketball coach there.

UP ALLIANCE way Ron Peeling has resigned as head basketball coach but will remain at Alliance High as a teacher.

WARREN'S Jim Gardner, Ohio's player-of-the-year, has been named to the All-American high school basketball team selected by Scholastic Magazine.

THE ANNUAL "Bowl Down Cancer" campaign will be observed at bowling alleys in the East Liverpool area next week.

Injury Hospitalizes Dodgers' Hitting Star

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tommy Davis, the best hitter in baseball last year, is in the hospital.

If there are any more beds available, maybe the rest of the Dodger hitters should join him. He can't be much sicker than they look.

Davis, who suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in an exhibition game March 31, was sent to the hospital Thursday night before the Dodgers dropped a 5-1 decision to the Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers said Davis will stay in the hospital at least a week, to make certain his ailing leg gets complete rest.

Pirates Salvage 3-2 Win Over Cards

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The problem plaguing pitchers and managers is trying to find some sort of yardstick for measuring a second in an attempt to halt the mushrooming number of balk calls disrupting action in National League games.

Balk calls may have been the decisive factor for the first time Thursday as Willie Mays waved home from third base twice in San Francisco's 6-3 victory over Houston. In all, five balks were called in the game.

One balk was called at Milwaukee, where the Braves retained first place with their seventh straight victory, 6-5 over Philadelphia, and one was charged at St. Louis, where Pittsburgh edged the Cardinals 3-2. No balks were called as the Chicago Cubs whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 in the only other game scheduled.

The three balks called on Houston pitchers in the game and the two against Giants' starter Jack Sanford, made a total of 11 for the three-game series in which Augie Donatelli's umpiring team strictly enforced the rule requiring a pitcher to pause a full second before delivery.

Potters On Top In Home Opener

Balance Pays Off For ELHS Track Forces In 74-44 Win Over Tigers

East Liverpool's track and field forces ran up an impressive 74-44 victory over Wellsville Thursday afternoon at Patterson Field.

The Potters under Coach Norm Six for the first time registered victories in nine of the 14 events during their home opener.

EAST LIVERPOOL didn't have any double winners but the overall balance of the squad paid dividends.

No records fell but Ron Roush pushed close to the mark in the 440-yard dash when he hit the tape in 53.5 only two tenths of a second shy of the record.

Other firsts for the Potters in track events were claimed by Bob Parsons with a 16.5 clocking in the 120-yard high hurdles, Dick Deem with a good time of 2:08.5 in the half mile and Ed Loy, a big surprise in the mile run, a distance he covered in 4:46.5.

Both of East Liverpool's relay teams won. The 880-yard team composed of Parsons, Earl Olmstead, Ed Pruden and Curt Batistelli won in 1:37.1. The mile relay team which turned in a 3:43.8 clocking was composed of Ed Hedrick, Bob Francis, Bob Forzano and Roush.

In the field events, Scott Musuraca, who holds the discus record, fell shy of the mark but still finished first with a distance of 120 feet, 9 1/4 inches.

Ken Heist, Wayland, Mass., junior, will captain Lehigh University's swimming team next season.

THIS IS NOT a new form of the "twist" as Terry Flesch of Wellsville strains to go over the high jump bar in Thursday's meet with East Liverpool at Patterson Field. Flesch wound up in a tie for second in the high jump. East Liverpool defeated the Tiger track squad, 74-44.

Burbick Has Hole-In-One As Potters Top Weirton

Bruce Burbick pulled a nine iron from his golf bag then lifted the hole 135 yards directly into the cup for a hole-in-one Thursday at Woodview Golf Course outside of Weirton. It was the first hole-in-one for Burbick and the first ace ever recorded by an ELHS golfer, according to Nate Lorah, veteran links coach. The ace came on the No. 8 hole at Woodview and went in on the fly.

Burbick wound up with a 43 on the par 35 course. Bob Gilmore paced the Potters to their opening victory with a four over par in line with a 42. Fritz Eckert scored a 46 and Rich Anderson 47.

Top man for Weirton was Ken Robinson who recorded a 41.

The Potters meet Youngstown Ursuline today at the East Liverpool Country Club.

3-Hitters Prove Order Of The Day For Twins, White Sox

Stigman, Herbert Blank AL Foes

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The early returns are in on baseball's enlarged strike zone, and they come as no great surprise—the pitchers love it and the hitters are demanding a recount.

With the major league season less than two weeks old, the game—for a change—is showing some mercy for the long-oppressed men who earn their living on the mound. It's no longer a batters' paradise.

In the only two games played in the American League Thursday, Milwaukee where the Braves won, 6-5 over Philadelphia and one at St. Louis, where Pittsburgh edged the Cardinals 3-2.

In the only other NL game scheduled, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1.

Herbert, sidelined for nine days with a stiff arm after being knocked out in his opener, came back powerfully. He served line drive singles to the first two men he faced—Dick Howser and Joe Tartabull—and then settled down to retire 21 of the next 22 men.

Gino Cimoli got the only other safety, a single in the eighth.

Dave Nicholson's first home run in the San Francisco-Houston game, won by the Giants 6-3. There was one at

Nelson, Pearson Win Top Awards At Wellsville All-Sports Banquet

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

"Easy" Ed Nelson, basketball star and All-Conference fullback, Leo Pearson won major awards as Wellsville High athletes took their bows at the annual all-sports banquet of the Omni Boosters Club Thursday night.

The fete at the Christian Church drew approximately 180 athletes, coaches and fans, one of the top attendance marks in several seasons.

FIVE MAJOR AWARDS were presented and Nelson, the rangy southpaw who was second leading scorer on Coach Jack McDevitt's 14-6 club the past campaign, won two of them.

The slim, sandy-haired forward won a trophy as most valuable senior on the cage squad and also an award for compiling the best foul shooting record — 74 per cent. In team scoring, Nelson was exceeded by only one point by pivot Steve Baldwin.

PEARSON, 180-pound senior and top touchdown producer on Coach Ken Woods' Buckeye Border Conference champions, was named most valuable senior in football.

Scoring 40 points in the season on six TD's and two conversions, Pearson chalked up a highly-successful senior year after sidelining ed by an injury while a junior. Named to the league's first offensive team as fullback, Pearson drew high praise from the Tiger mentor for hard-nosed football and an "iron man" performance against Jefferson Union when he scored three times on a field turned into a quagmire by rain and snow. The fullback also was lauded for a 75-yard scoring run against rival Salem.

DON LINDESMITH, president, presented the two "most valuable awards on behalf of the Omni Club."

Two other football awards were presented, and a halfback and a lineman were the recipients.

Alvin Thompson, leading scorer last year and a standout halfback as a senior, won the "best defensive" player award of the Wellsville Jaycees. It was presented by Nunzio S. Lombardozzi, Jaycee president.

The "best offensive lineman" trophy given by the Wellsville Knights of Columbus went to Larry Baughman, 180-pound senior guard. Nick Zelasko made the presentation. "Baughman was one of our steadiest performers, going both ways the whole season," Coach Woods said in tribute.

THE OMNI CLUB also gave a ceramic school letters to two athletes who made the grade in three major sports — football, basketball and track. They were Mark Leyda and Andy Dash, both seniors. Dash made first team in all three sports and set a school record in the shot put in a track meet this week. Leyda was first string halfback in football, saw frequent action in basketball, and is also a cinder star, second fittest on the squad.

Two fans also joined the list of award winners for contributions to Wellsville sports.

PLAQUES were presented Dr. Janis Lauva, team physician, and Frank Wilson, grocery store owner who is in City Hospital.

Guest speaker was Gregg Arbaugh, varsity basketball coach at Adrian (Mich.) College and ex-Wellsville athlete.

Arbaugh is expected to find Wellsville's Ed Nelson on hand when cage practice opens next season at Adrian. Should Nelson accept Adrian's offer of a scholarship, he would be following in the steps of Ray (Pick) Rolley and Vince Giles, who played at Adrian under Arbaugh.

ARBAUGH declared that "the sports world symbolizes life, all of life's drama can be played on the gridiron, basketball court or cinder track."

"You can feel the pulse of a nation in the Olympic games, measuring people by the way they respond to a great challenge," he said.

"Whether the reaction to the challenge is positive or negative is the story of human history."

Asserting that "we live in a challenging day," Arbaugh put forth four challenges towards which the Wellsville athletes may strive to accomplish.

The challenges, Arbaugh said, are "using men's genius for creative things rather than a destructive program; the challenge of health; the challenge of building a total man, and the challenge of competition."

REFERRING to health, Arbaugh said he was perturbed by seeing a college student jump in his auto and drive one block to a class. He observed that a one-legged wrestler on Adrian's squad had met the challenge of a health handicap, and pointed out the athlete had once wrestled another with no legs.

Turning to juvenile delinquency, Arbaugh said "we can lick delinquency when the adults take a genuine interest in the kids."

"Coaches have a permanent relationship with the boys and can build men and set patterns," he added.

He was accompanied by his wife and son, Gregg Jr., 13, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Arbaugh.

Coach Jack McDevitt, Coach Ken Woods, and Coach Kyle Baker spoke briefly. Members of Baker's unbeaten junior high football squad were present.

The Tiger cheerleaders were introduced by Mrs. Helen Welch, sponsor. They included Betty Pucci, Kathleen Trainer, Karen Gitschier, Jane Sell and Patty Laughlin, varsity, and Nancy Checkler, Linda French, Jean Reight, Shirley Mercer and Rose Comporetto, reserve.

Mayor William W. Daugherty served as toastmaster.

McCall To Become Lisbon Assistant

Tom McCall, dismissed last month as head basketball coach at Beaver Local High School, has signed a contract to become a varsity assistant in football and basketball at Lisbon High School.

The contract is subject to approval by the Lisbon Board of Education.

Junior Editors Quiz on BRIDGES

QUESTION: Why are there so many different kinds of bridges?

ANSWER: Bridges have different jobs. Some cross tiny streams, others soar over great rivers, bearing up heavy streams of traffic. These different jobs call for different construction. Also, men have found different ways of building bridges during the course of history. Probably the first bridge was a fallen log over a stream. Perhaps primitive man lugged another log alongside the first and so had a fine bridge (1). The Romans discovered the arch principle (2) where weight on the bridge comes down on a central "keystone." The keystone passes the weight to the other blocks which come down to the ground. The truss bridge (3) is often seen over country streams where the parts standing up can be made of wooden beams. Each beam takes part of the weight. The huge, beautiful suspension bridges which span so many large rivers close to cities are made of metal, and the weight is taken by cables which sweep gracefully down from high towers on each side. These bridges are not only extremely practical and useful, but beautiful as well, as our picture shows.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are several other kinds of bridges which we do not have enough space to illustrate or describe. Keep your eyes open and see if you can spot some, as well as figure out how they carry the weight.

Carroll Carter of Kilmarnock, Va. wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win $10 or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I cut siding board without leaving a ragged edge along my cuts?

A. You will find that, regardless of how sharp your knife, invariably you have a ragged edge which prevents a neat fitting. The easy way to overcome this is to score the boards first before sawing with a sharp knife or awl. This scoring breaks the outer grain on the wood, giving a smooth finish after sawing.

Q. How can I clean piano keys?

A. A cloth moistened with lemon juice, then dipped in whiting, is very good. A cloth moistened with vinegar will help whiten the keys — and alcohol is also a good whitener for these keys.

Q. How can I remove daubs and splashes of paint from some of my window glass?

A. Easy: Just rub gently with some fine steel wool.

Q. How can I clean willow furniture?

A. Brush it with a strong solution of salt and water, then wipe with a soft dry cloth. This will prevent the furniture from turning yellow.

Local Man Kept Busy By Lions Club Duties

When George F. McCullough presides at the district Lions convention Saturday at the American Legion in Canton, he will be nearing the end of a busy year that has seen him attend 85 Lions' functions and travel nearly 32,000 miles in his official capacity as district governor.

McCullough, who resides on Forsyth Pl. and operates the G. F. McCullough Electric Co. on E. 4th St., is only the second East Liverpool man ever to hold the governor's post and the first since the late Harry Brokaw was elected some 20 years ago.

Gerald Leasure of Toronto, senior deputy governor, is scheduled to be elevated to McCullough's post tomorrow, but he won't take over officially until after the installation ceremony at the Lions International convention in June in Miami.

McCullough, accompanied by his wife, traveled to Nice, France, in June, 1962, where he was installed as governor and attended a three-day school. He was advanced to the governor's post at the district convention last year in Canton after serving successfully as junior and senior deputy governor.

Since his installation as governor, he has paid an official visit to each of the 52 clubs in the seven-county district, attended 12 Charter Night affairs, 4 State Council meetings in Columbus, 4 district Cabinet meetings in Canton, Minerva, Toronto and East Liverpool, 5 zone meetings, 4 zone socials and the state convention in Columbus.

Still on his agenda are the state convention at Cleveland May 17-19 and the international convention in June in Miami.

McCullough also has installed officers for 12 clubs and inducted 34 new members. In addition, he also holds the post of chaplain in the Ohio Council of Governors. The district is one of 10 in Ohio.

McCullough is one of 600 governors guiding the activities of 1,700 Lions Clubs in 118 countries with a membership of 686,711.

During his year, he has been aided by Richard Walker as district public relations chairman; his son, Richard McCullough, who served as Cabinet secretary; Dr. John Snively of Minerva, junior deputy governor, and 8 zone chairmen.

Jaycees At Wellsville Outline Future Events

Speakers for a general meeting were named and approved and a number of reports heard when the Board of Directors of the Wellsville Jaycees met Thursday night at the Jaycee Hall on 11th St.

Robert Lloyd, assistant Wellsville fire chief, and Walt Kimbro, Liverpool office of the Social Security administration, will speak to the club Monday night at 7:30. Lloyd will discuss the proposed fire engine levy.

Final reports on finances were presented on projects of the ways and means committee, including the Jaycee basketball tournament and a film on an African safari.

A membership campaign night will be held next month. Nunzio S. Lombardozzi, president, said. The board approved giving of scholastic awards for the high school again this year and approved sponsoring a library program by the J-Ettes and Jaycees.

Permission was given Explorer Post 66, sponsored by the Jaycees, to participate in an activity during the annual Labor Day fete in September.

A committee will be named to prepare plans for the annual inaugural ball for installation of new officers in June. Nominations will be open from the floor Monday. The election will be held in May.

Lombardozzi reported he had presented a trophy to the outstanding defensive football player on Wellsville's team to Alvin Thompson at the all-sports banquet of the Omni Boosters Club. It was given for the second year.

Plans were voted to support Dave Humphrey of McDonald, who is a candidate for internal vice president of the Ohio Jaycees.

A report was heard on the Jaycee-J-Ette coverditch social to be held Saturday night at 6:30 in the Jaycee Hall.

Several letters were read. Committee reports will be heard at the next general meeting.

The "speak-up Jaycee" contestants for April are Bob Wilkinson and Perry Mason.

Negley Motorist Gets Fine, Jail On 2 Counts

Gordon L. Reynolds of Negley R. D. 1 was given a 30-day jail term and fined $50 and costs when Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff convicted him today for violation of two motor vehicle laws. Reynolds was sentenced to jail on a charge of operating an auto without a proper title and given the fine on a charge of driving a car with improper plates.

Reynolds was arrested Saturday morning on 1st Ave. by Lt. W. E. McDaniel. Arraigned Monday, he was granted a continuance until today when he asked time to obtain counsel. However, he returned this morning without counsel. Reynolds pleaded not guilty to both counts.

Program To Be Sunday

Member Drive Slated By Midland NAACP

Philip H. Savage, Tri-State secretary, will be guest speaker at the "kickoff" membership drive Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Mt. Olive Baptist Church for the Midland branch of the NAACP.

The program will feature the Senior Choir of the Church of the Living God of Midland, the Senior and Junior Choirs of the host church and the Johnson Chorus of the First Baptist Church. James P. Henry will be master of ceremonies and the Rev. W. I. Harris, pastor of the host church, will give the benediction. A luncheon will follow in the diningroom.

Mrs. Elvia Smith is membership and program chairman.

Savage, a graduate of Morgan State College, Baltimore, and a former teacher in the Baltimore public schools, has served as Tri-State secretary, since June 1961.

He was an organizer for the Baltimore branch for its register-to-vote drive, which resulted in a new record high for non-white registrants. He also helped organize the student sit-in group in Baltimore, which was directly responsible for integrating lunch counters of four leading department stores and the facilities of at least 50 other eating establishments.

During 1962 he helped organize

PHILLIP SAVAGE Tri-State Unit Secretary.

"Freedom Rides" throughout the Eastern Shore and other counties of Maryland.

He conducted a survey of the needs of the evicted sharecroppers in Tennessee, and directed membership drives in various cities, including Washington and New York.

He received the "Americanism Award" from the American Veterans Committee.
